

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a data receiving terminal, a time stamp of the data whose reproduction has been terminated is stored in a memory when receiving/reproducing certain content, and when 5 this certain content is reconnected to, a sending device (server) is requested to send data from the time stamp stored in the memory.